25X1 3. (Cont'd.) After discussion with Ray Cline, I talked with Donald Henderson on the staff of Senate Foreign Relations Committee who had laid the request on [redacted] I indicated that in this case the Agency would prefer the Committee get its information from Cottrell who in any event would have the same information we had. After considerable discussion, Henderson reluctantly agreed to this. [redacted] office was advised. (See GLC's entry on this part - Item 3.) 25X1

25X1 [redacted] After checking [redacted] and provided with the information furnished by Congressman William C. Cramer (R., Fla.), I again met with Congressman Cramer and advised him that the appropriate office to contact concerning the Cuban Action Groups mentioned in the meeting of yesterday was Sterling J. Cottrell, State Department, Office of Coordinator of Cuban Affairs. I further advised that the appropriate agency for review and analysis of studies provided Congressman Cramer by Cuban refugee organizations was DIA of the Defense Department. I further reviewed briefly for the Congressman benefits or deficiencies that might be anticipated in "intelligence information" provided by refugee organizations operating in this country and the elements of who, what, where, when, and how that should be ascertained in those instances where he wanted to exercise his own judgment with regard to information furnished. Mr. Cramer indicated he would review his notes on this meeting and that he may or may not contact us further on this meeting. 25X1

25X1 [redacted] I received back from Mr. James Kendall, Chief Counsel, Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, the transcripts of the hearings of 6 and 7 February and arranged with Mr. Kendall to make them available to the Committee by courier delivery and returned to the Agency on 22 February.
